To play these chords, simply place your fingers on the strings at the indicated frets. For example, to play the C chord, you would place your index finger on the first fret of the second string, your middle finger on the second fret of the third string, and your ring finger on the third fret of the fourth string.

Once you have learned the four basic ukulele chords, you can start strumming. There are many different strumming patterns that you can use, but the most common pattern is the down-up-down-up-down-up strum.

To strum this pattern, simply hold the ukulele in front of you and use your strumming hand to move the pick or your fingers across the strings in a downward and upward motion.

Now that you know the basic ukulele chords and strumming patterns, it's time to put it all together and start playing some songs.

Here is a simple song that you can try:

[Song lyrics]

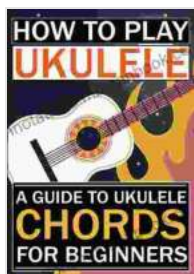

To play this song, simply strum the chords in the order that they are written. For example, to play the first line of the song, you would strum the C chord twice, the G chord once, and the Am chord once.

Here are a few tips for beginners:

- Start slowly. Don't try to learn too many chords at once. Focus on learning the four basic chords first, and then gradually add more chords as you become more comfortable.
- Be patient. Learning to play the ukulele takes time and practice. Don't get discouraged if you don't see results immediately. Just keep practicing and you will eventually reach your goals.
- Have fun! The ukulele is a great instrument to learn and play. Enjoy the process of learning and don't be afraid to make mistakes.

Congratulations! You have now learned the basics of ukulele chords. With a little practice, you will be able to play a variety of ukulele chords and start strumming your way to success.

We encourage you to continue learning and exploring the ukulele. There is a whole world of music waiting for you!
